Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were willing to provide green space as part of the subdivision. Mr. LeCerf expressed a couple of concerns he had. First, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson asked that the City pay costs to have the property resurveyed if green space is designated. Secondly, the City Manager reminded the Council Members that a portion of the green space would include Peach Creek, which may expose the City to future maintenance that could prove to be costly. He reminded the Council of a discussion had in the past, regarding Peach Creek, north of the area being considered, when it was determined Peach Creek maintenance was the responsibility of the property owner.

A decision was not needed at this time. The discussion will resume at a later date, to decide whether or not the City is willing to take ownership of the proposed green space, including the Peach Creek area.

INTRUSION AND INFILTRATION OF SANITARY SEWER LINES – BROCK PFOST

Repairs will be made prior to moving on to the next watershed.

ZONING UPDATE

Mayor Jackson reported that he has been in contact with someone with Cape Girardeau, Missouri who had hired a consultant to assist in resolve their zoning issues. Warrensburg, Missouri, hired a consultant to assist and set the ground rules for their residential zoning. He also spoke with the City of Columbia, who used their staff to develop a plan.

It was suggested that the City look into hiring a consultant to assist in setting ground rules and framework and possibly develop an overall Comprehensive Plan of the City, with the zoning issues being the first objective.

ENHANCED ENTERPRISE ZONE

City Manager LeCerf reminded City Council Members that the city had decided to opt out of the Enhanced Enterprise Zone (EEZ) with Nodaway County, with the thought of the City developing their own. But the city has since learned that the County is unable to participate without the City of Maryville being involved in the Nodaway County EEZ. Lee Langerock spoke with a group of representatives including the City Manager, Mayor, Councilman Jonagan and School District officials to give a better understanding of the EEZ, as a whole. There are conflicting views as to how to add to the NICA codes. The EEZ is based on assessment of Real Property tax, not sales tax.

The Department of Economic Development and perhaps the School District could visit the Council to more clearly explain the impact the EEZ could have on the City, and School District. The County and cities would be required to adopt a resolution. The EEZ Board will set guidelines. There are many unanswered questions to the process and effects of the EEZ that need addressed before making any decisions.
